

Job Posting

The Friedrich-Loeffler-Institut (FLI) is one of the world's leading research institutes in the field of animal diseases, animal welfare, animal husbandry, animal nutrition and animal genetics. It is a higher federal authority under the auspices of the Federal Ministry for Food and Agriculture (BMEL) and informs and advises the Federal Government in these aforementioned areas.

The Institute of Animal Welfare and Animal Husbandry offers in Mecklenhorst/Mariensee (still in Celle until 2026) in the research area of „Transport, slaughtering and killing of farm animals“ a position as a Research Scientist (m/w/d).

Priority tasks:

- Application, supervision, documentation and conduction of animal experimental studies in the research area specified above, particularly in a leading position during the animal trials
- Scientific supervision including coordination, planning and conduction of national and international joint projects
- Data processing and performing statistical analysis of data from scientific projects including writing project reports
- Application for third-party funding
- Communication with internal and external partners, national and international
- Supervision of (graduate) students and technical staff
- Publishing results in international peer-reviewed journals and in agricultural press
- Writing expert opinions
- Support in technical and organizational issues as well as administrative tasks

Requirements:

- Degree and PhD in Veterinary Medicine, Agricultural Sciences, Biology or a related field

Preferences:

- Several years of proven independent work in animal studies with farm animals
- Experience with scientific studies
 - on the stunning and killing of slaughter animals at slaughterhouses or of farm animals in the event of an animal disease and/or
 - on transport of farm animals
- Certificate for an advanced course in laboratory animal science for persons planning experiments (formerly FELASA C) or for persons performing experiments in animal testing (field of activity A according to EU Directive 2010/63/EU; formerly FELASA B)
- Successful third-party funding
- Scientific publications in peer-reviewed journals
- Driver's license

The willingness to travel for several days, a well-structured and independent workflow and a good work organization, a high intrinsic motivation and resilience as well as the capacity for teamwork are required. As an international working language, spoken and written English is essential.

In addition to interesting and varied work in a scientific environment we offer:

- an employment based on the Collective Agreement for Public Services (Tarifvertrag des öffentlichen Dienstes - TVÖD-Bund West) up to remuneration groups 14 TVÖD- Bund West
- full-time employment (39 hours /week)
- working in a modern research institute.

Our institute is committed to a family-friendly working environment by offering flexible working hours as well as the basic possibility of part-time employment. Our social benefits include company health and reintegration management, company social counseling, company pension plans and capital-forming benefits. Celle is connected to public transport.

The Friedrich-Loeffler-Institut is committed to the concept of inclusion and a policy of equal employment policy. Applicants with severe physical or mental disabilities are therefore encouraged to apply, they will be given preferential consideration in the selection process.

In line with our international orientation, we welcome applications from people of all nationalities and ethnicities, in German or English.

For further details please contact Dr. Inga Wilk, +49 5141 3846-120 or E-Mail: Inga.Wilk@fli.de.

We are looking forward to receiving your application. Please send your detailed application via E-Mail to 019.24@fli.de as a single PDF-document and refer to "Stelle 19/24" in the subject line. Alternatively, you can send your application to Friedrich-Loeffler-Institut, Referat Personal, Postfach 1318 in 17466 Greifswald - Insel Riems. Deadline for submissions is 12th April 2024.

A receipt of confirmation and all further communication will be sent via E-Mail. Please check your spam filter settings!